Circus Visits Town Last Week

Sells Brothers Circus visited Wainwright last Tuesday afternoon and evening, August 12th, and gave the spectators a showing of the old time circus show that is fast dying out in this country.

This group of artists were sponsored by the Board of Trade, and while the B. of T. did not receive any great deal of money from the performance, the whole affair left a much better taste than the last carnival entering town. This group consisted of only a circus with a pop corn and hot dog stand. After the performances the animals were on exhibit for a nominal fee.

The Sells Brothers circus claims to come from California originally and has been playing coastal points during the spring and early summer. Their itinerary before playing Wainwright included a performance at Camrose then to Wainwright on Tuesday, Vermilion Wednesday, Vegreville Thursday and Leduc after that, working their way back to the southern part of the province.

The equipment included eight or ten large trucks with trailers, as well as passenger cars and sleeping trailers, a large tent for showings, etc.

Admission prices were rather high with $1.30 per adult and 75c for children, but all things being considered the acts were well received by the audience. The afternoon performance played to a small crowd with mostly children in attendance, while the evening performance played to a full capacity tent.

The acts included trained lions, trained cougars, an elephant, acrobats and trapeze artists, trained dogs and some slap-stick comedy. The showing took approximately two hours, but was not even complete then. Noticed was a trailer full of monkeys but none were shown during the evening performance. This might possibly have been an added attraction in the animal display later in the evening.

The highlight of the evening was the performance given by the elephant. It was claimed by the public address system during the evening that this animal was the oldest elephant in captivity, being 102 years old and weighing 4½ tons. Her performance was good doing different tricks that kept everyone keenly interested.

This is the first real circus to play Wainwright since the last visit of Ringland Brothers in 1930. To most it was well worth the money spent in seeing the show. To others it was time and money wasted. The advance agent was late in getting to Wainwright to properly advertise the showing, hence a somewhat smaller crowd was experienced than normally could have been expected.

It is the intention of the circus management to establish a route which they intend to follow each year. This year was the try out for this route, which if all comes true will mean that a circus will visit Wainwright every year.

Former Wainwright Old Timer Dies In Red Deer

Death called Mr. John Gano at the age of 76, a former Wainwright resident, on Thursday, August 14th at Red Deer, Alberta.

Mr. Gano will be remembered by many of the old timers still residing in Wainwright, as he first came to this district in the year 1906 from his native birth place, Washta, Ohio. After a short period of stay here he moved to the Vermilion district, returning about two years later. He resided here practically full time until moving to Calgary and Red Deer in 1930, where he and his family have lived since. He gained wide recognition as a photographer in the district in the early days and was the first man in Wainwright to photograph the unloading of the first buffalo as the park was opening.

Mr. Gano had apparently been in good health up to the time of his death, but on the day prior to his death, was taken ill and despite all that medical attention could do he passed away in his sleep.

He leaves to mourn besides his loving wife, a son Elmer and two daughters Mrs. G. Williams (Marjorie) and Lavonne, as well as a brother Mr. W. R. (Bill) Gano who recently was visiting relatives in town.

Wet Weather Delays Harvesting

Into each life a little rain must fall, certainly held true for the residents of Wainwright and immediate surrounding district during the past week. While the moisture was not wide spread there was plenty to delay the harvesting. Minor harvest operations were starting prior to the rainfall during the early part of the week but in most cases near town all harvesting ceased by mid-week. In different localities farther out the rainfall merely amounted to a slight drizzle and the harvesting operations never stopped.

The Star correspondent at Fabyan reports that some rye has been swathed and stooked, but at present it is too wet to expect much harvesting for at least another week.

From Heath comes word that some barley is moving at present and running approximately 30 to 40 bushels to the acre. Wheat harvesting is not yet general but should be shortly.

Due to phone difficulty to Greenshields the Star was not able to contact anyone in that locality but it is expected that conditions there are about the same as elsewhere.

Early Sunday evening a rain and wind storm swept over this part of Alberta aiding considerably to the moisture content of the ground. As recorded by the rain gauge of the Searle elevator at Fabyan .35 inches fell in just over an hour.

Jury Gives Verdict In J. Mills Death

The coroners jury composed of S. Ryan (foreman), H. Kennedy, W. G. McCluskey, J. G. Davison, Roy Tolmie and Chas. Thurber reconvened Friday evening last, August 15th, to give their verdict in the R. J. Mills death. The jury presided at the town hall where the inquest was held and several witnesses were called upon to give evidence which included the details outlining the accident over a week ago, and also the mechanical condition of the truck in which Mr. Mills was riding at the time of the accident. Dr. J. D. Wallace gave evidence as to the results of the post mortem held the day after the accident.

The jury after hearing all the evidence and asking questions which would have bearing on the verdict, retired at 11:30 p.m. and after a deliberation of nearly 20 minutes brought in the following verdict:

That Robert Joshua Mills came to his death at approximately 12:40 a.m., August 9th, 1947, in a ditch east of the gate of the Wainwright Exhibition Grounds due to injuries received to his head and chest after passing out of a truck driven by Jack Charles Ford. The said truck having first left the road, striking a small building violently, and travelling a distance of 340 feet in the ditch.

Rose Willow W.I. Hold Picnic At Clear Lake

In place of their August meeting the Rose Willow W.I. held their annual picnic at Clear Lake. All members and ex-members and their families turned out. The weather being very much in our favor that day.

A lovely afternoon was spent in swimming, boating and fishing.

After this exercise everybody had stirred up a good appetite and about 50 people really did justice to the bounteous supper spread out under the trees by the ladies.

It was an afternoon much enjoyed by all and we will look forward to another one next year.

Severe Hail Strikes District

A severe hail storm struck early Monday night at the crops and gardens of the district surrounding Wainwright. The clouds were heavy in the west for some time and early in the evening rain began to fall. Apparently the hail storm started in the district just west of Willman, approximately 6 miles west of Crescent Hill School and the Star correspondent at that point reports that an area from 3 to 5 miles wide received hail damage up to 100%. From reports heard it would appear that the heaviest hail followed the river course on either side and as the storm moved east it grew less intense.

Considerable hail insurance was carried by the farmers of this district which will tend to ease the situation considerably.

The wrought destruction and damage leaving in its wake an area north of its wake, leaving an area north of Wainwright with considerable crop damage. Heaviest damage was reported to be north of the river, although fewer farmers south of the river report heavy losses. Some damage is reported in the Gilt Edge district although it is not believed to be as heavy as elsewhere. No hail was received in Wainwright but some has been reported south of town near the park reserve.

Gordon Smith Married At Portage La Prairie

United Church, Portage la Prairie was the scene of a pretty candlelight wedding Saturday afternoon, August 9th, at 3 p.m. when Madalen, elder daughter of Judge and Mrs. Stanley H. Fahrni was united in marriage to H. Gordon Smith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Smith of Wainwright, Alberta. Rev. J. . Pottruff, of Winnipeg performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length wedding gown of white satin with fitted bodice, featuring lily point sleeves and high neckline. Her veil and coronet were of dainty embroidered net with train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

The bride's only sister, Miss Joan Fahrni was maid of honor in a floor length gown of ice-blue nylon sheer over taffeta with drop shoulder yoke and flounces of sheer. She wore a matching calot trimmed with pale pink flowers and carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweet peas and summer flowers.

Miss Audrey Smith, only sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, gowned in pale yellow patterned sheer over taffeta with drop shoulder yoke and full skirt. She wore a pale yellow calot with matching veil and carried a colonial bouquet of mauve sweet peas and blending flowers.

Mr. Fred Smith, brother of the groom, was best man and Mr. Jack Smith of Edmonton and Mr. Jack Garvin of Winnipeg, were the ushers.

During the signing of the register, "I'll Walk Beside You" was sung by Miss Florence Adamson of Winnipeg accompanied by Mr. J. D. McRae, organist who played the bridal music.

The bride's mother was gowned in a pearl gray crepe suit dress with black satin, ribbon trimmed hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the groom, wore a dress of aqua blue crepe with black hat and accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on George Avenue where the toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle, Dr. G. S. Fahrni, of Winnipeg, and ably responded to by the groom.

For going away, the bride wore a beige gabardine suit with long jacket and brown accessories. An orchid corsage completed her costume.

After a short trip to various points Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Edmonton.

Stress Completion Of Alberta Road Plans

Importance of the provincial authorities ensuring the completion of the 1947 road program this year is being stressed by officials of the Alberta Motor Association. With the steadily increasing demands of the motor tourist industry, the need for improved roads is more vital than ever. Also, it is noted that general traffic is demanding better secondary and market as well as main roads.

Some concern was felt lately when the provincial government announced that a shortage of asphalt might affect the completion of its $8,000,000 hard surfacing program.

To remedy the situation, provincial officials proposed to divert supplies from some projects to others where the shortage was more acute. A conference was held with representatives of oil companies in Calgary with a view to securing an increased output of asphalt.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works, stated that unless greater supplies of asphalt were forthcoming, there might be a serious curtailment of the government's road surfacing program.

The provincial government has some 46 projects under way, including grading, gravelling and hard surfacing in different parts of the province.

New Medical Clinic Opened Last Week

The new building which will in future house the offices and doctors of the Wainwright Clinic opened last week. The building is approximately 80 feet long and 35 feet wide and gives spacious quarters to the three doctors in charge, Dr. H. C. Wallace, Dr. J. Bradley and Dr. J. D. Wallace. It is finished in white fire proof shingle siding with a red roof.

The building is one of the finest to be found in Alberta, for the doctors visited several before plans were finally completed. All windows are equipped with venetian blinds and the lighting is the most modern with 4-tube fluorescent light fixtures providing more than ample light. At present the plumbing and heating is not altogether completed but this is expected to be finished before freeze-up this fall.

THE INTERIOR

On entering the premises the spectator would be met by a most pleasing color scheme of white walls and colorful linoleum, laid to the base boards. The linoleum is laid to give coved effect allightly rounding up to the walls making for easier cleaning. It is of a two-tone color scheme with deep red being the main color and light mottled inlays serving as border.

The reception, or waiting room, located in the centre of the building is large and cheery with well spaced, modern chrome legged magazine tables and up-to-date chrome chairs. A patient visiting the new clinic will find the old joke about the magazine in a doctors office pretty much out of place here, as the most recent issues of several popular magazines are to be found on the centre table.

Each doctor has his private office and private consulting room, completely equipped with the most modern accessories. It is planned that as soon as telephones become available each doctor will have his own and it will be operated through a private switchboard. This feature will be quite a convenience to both the doctors and their patients.

In the back centre portion of the building is located the laboratory, library and minor surgical room. Each of these rooms are decorated in the same color scheme as the remainder of the building, but are fitted to their individual needs. The minor surgical room has quite an array of cabinets holding medical instruments and other necessary supplies. Here again the lighting is of the finest and most brilliant.

The remainder of the building (the west end) is at present not quite finished but The Star has been given to understand that the space is reserved for dental offices and will shortly house at least one, and probably two, dentists as well as a dental mechanic. This portion of the building has two well lighted rooms and a smaller room in between for the dental mechanic. Also a very small room has been designed for a dark room to develop X-ray photos.

From a medical standpoint this newest addition to the streets of Wainwright is one to be proud of. It is now possible to receive city treatment in a small centre such as this. Operating in conjunction with the clinic are the regular visits made to Chauvin and Edgerton by the doctors. At present these two points are not served by any medical facilities whatso-ever and no doubt this service is greatly appreciated by the residents of these districts.

EDITOR'S NOTE—It was the intention of the Editor to print with this story a picture of the new building; but due to circumstance it was impossible this week. If nothing unforeseen happens this picture will appear next week.

Urge Driving Care As Schools Re-Open

Opening of schools in the province on September 2 following the summer vacation means that possibly 180,000 pupils will be attending this term.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association point out that many of these youngsters will be attending school for the first time. They may not be so much on the alert as older pupils in taking every precaution to avoid accidents. Consequently, motorists are being urged to exercise extreme care when approaching or passing through school zones or areas.

It has been suggested that school and municipal authorities also would be well advised to survey the traffic and stop signs near schools. Some may need repainting or relocating and other steps to make the installations more satisfactory and to reduce the accident hazards.

Formation of school boy patrols also is being encouraged by the A.M.A., as these groups have played an outstanding part in reducing traffic accidents near schools.

Home Economist Visits Gerald Club

Miss G. Horbgy of Vegreville, home economist for this division gave an interesting talk and demonstration on "Home Decorating" at the August meeting of the Gerald Club, which was held at the home of Mrs. I. Hamilton. The talk covered such diverse topics as color schemes, arrangement of furniture, drapery materials, and floor finishing. New materials were shown and suggested furnishings were pictured. Mrs. Mygg-land presided at the meeting, at which 13 members and three visitors were present. Miss G. Horbgy also gave suggestions and directions for the forming of a Young People's Club for the study of home economics and kindred subjects. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hamilton.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their sympathy and floral offerings in the loss of our beloved son and brother.

MR. E. F. MILLS and FAMILY.

Soldier Injured In Road Accident

One soldier was severely injured and another badly shaken up as the result of an accident on the Vermilion highway Friday night last, August 15th.

From all reports that The Star could gather, a Sergeant and a Private stationed at the Wainwright Camp were on their way to Vermilion and finding the roads muddy decided to turn around and head back to Wainwright. On the way home the jeep that they were riding in skidded into the ditch and overturned, throwing the Sergeant onto the ground. The vehicle was righted by the Private and the Sergeant was then brought to the local hospital suffering from severe shock and several fractures. At last reports the patient is recovering as quickly as can be expected but will be a hospital patient for some time yet.

Province Suspends 60 Drivers Licenses

Operating of Alberta's compulsory car liability act has resulted in 60 drivers' licenses being suspended according to information received by officials of the Alberta Motor Association. The new act which sets up a fund for compensation of those injured in accidents went into effect April 1.

There are more than 150,000 licensed car drivers in the province.

Of the 60 suspensions, about 20 drivers had their licenses returned when their owners posted either a bond or cash to cover estimated damage they had caused in motor accidents.

Forty suspensions still are in effect and these drivers will stay "banned" from driving on a highway until they have made good the damage caused.

On the basis of $1 per license fee in addition to the regular license, the province has established a fund of $100,000. Damages and claims by persons injured in accidents are paid from this fund. No actual claims for payments have been made yet.

Worlds Chemistry Experts Hold Congress In Britain

Chemists and research experts from 28 nations including Russia opened their meetings in London on July 17th. Their discussions are ranging over almost every major development in chemistry made during the last nine years. Two thousand delegates are attending this eleventh International Congress. It is organized in 14 sections at which about 100 papers will be read by expert's on their specific subjects. These will include a new system of chemical nomenclature which has been worked out by a United Kingdom scientist and chemistry of the antibiotics in which interesting new fields have been opened up by Britain's contribution in discovering penicillin.

THE SCHOOL PROBLEM

The education problem is one which at some early date must be faced by everyone residing within the Wainwright School Division. At present the local School Divisional Board is experiencing difficulty in securing adequate teaching staff for some of its schools, even one main post remains unfilled at time of writing. This is a situation we think will correct itself as time goes on, but the question of accommodation looms high on the horizon and at present shows little or no let-up. The school buildings in Wainwright are approximately 25 years out of date, and as time goes on the situation will become worse. As it stands now there is needed over $100,000 worth of new building. This has not been needed this year or last year only. It has been needed for the past ten years. During this time the old buildings have been changed, repaired, altered and added to, but still the situation is such that the measures taken thus far have only been of a temporary nature.

Around the year 1910, realizing a need for education in a proper school, a start was made on the big brick school. This school has had a busy life since that date and we find now that it is small in comparison with present day needs. Since that time many schools have been constructed or moved in to aleviate the shortage of space, but as we said before they have only been of a temporary nature One can not add buildings to a playground, call them schools and then expect the acme of perfection from an educational system.

At present there is a great duplication of services and expense caused by our school buildings dotting the full block and one half. For an example, think of the heat that is used to warm five buildings when the amount of gas used in any one of them would go a long way to heat a modern one roof school building.

Yes, the taxpayers of the town and the district which come under the jurisdiction of the Wainwright School Division will have to face this problem of erecting a modern school building with all units and grades under one roof. No doubt money will have to be borrowed to do this, but this is an improvement in our educational system which will have to come regardless of cost. With the higher cost of materials and building today it might be advisable to wait, as the present accommodation is sufficient for a few more years, but a few more years only. This problem can not be disregarded for very long. Plans should be studied at an early date, so when conditions are right a start could be made which would insure the proper housing of pupils attending school.

The one question, what to do with the present buildings, seems to be uppermost in our minds. They are actually too good to destroy as money, and plenty of it, has been spent on their upkeep every year. No doubt they could be salvaged and some of the material could be used over again, but then again would the labor bill for such an undertaking justify the cost? We doubt it.

However, we have heard that other centres in the Division are in much more need of new buildings and consequently will receive same before a start is made on improving the Wainwright situation, if this is the case, Wainwright will have to wait. It is just a matter of how long we will have to wait though, as something will definitely have to be done within the next five years if the problem is still as acute then as it is today.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES INCREASE

With infantile paralysis cases on the increase in Alberta it is important that parents be watchful when children develop symptoms that seem to point to the disease.

Since it so closely resembles influenza or a summer cold in the early stages a doctor should be consulted whenever the symptoms seem to indicate them at this time of year.

Aside from the usual symptoms of 'flu a child may complain of headache, pain in the back of the head or neck and of pains in the legs. Intestinal disturbances are a characteristic of the disease. There is usually a fever and the throat may be sore.

Parents, watch your children. Manitoba has over 125 cases now. Cases in Alberta are on the increase. And remember, older people are often victims of the disease.

NOT MUCH RESPONSE

A few weeks ago this paper offered to donate prize money to the one who could hit the nail on the head with a suggestion as to what type of industry would be welcomed here. At the time of writing only one reply has landed on the Editor's desk. While this is encouraging it certainly is disappointing to see that only one person is interested enough in helping the community and district to sit down and write a letter.

Come on folks, let's have the suggestions! It may not do any good as far as locating an industry here, but it certainly will help in giving the Board of Trade something to work on.

FARMING NOTES

By Prov. Dept. of Agriculture

COMBAT WATER EROSION WITH GRASS

On thousands of acres of some of the best agricultural land, water erosion is the cause of destroying or damaging the vital top soil which means the loss of the production of food products at a time when they are so urgently needed.

The effects of water erosion are not always readily visible and for that reason, farmers may not realize that the problem exists until they see largy gullies in their fields, says E. J. Britten, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Man.

All sloping land is subject to water erosion when under heavy rain or snowfall.

Grass is one of the farmers' greatest weapons in combatting the waste caused by water erosion. Its protecting green mantle above the soil and its clutching root system below tend to slow down the speed of the running water and at the same time prevent the soil itself from being moved away.

Various means of combatting water erosion have been found successful but methods must vary with the particular area under consideration. Work conducted on Sub-Stations by the Experimental Farm, Brandon, in areas where the land consisted of a series of relatively small hills indicated that sowing part of the farm to grass periodically was the best practical means of controlling erosion. Even after breaking, the sod contained sufficient fibre to resist erosion. In areas where soil erosion has been severe it may be necessary to leave a whole field permanently as hay or pasture.

One method of farming sloping land is to leave strips of grass on the contour. Other crops may then be conveniently sown between the strips of grass, with the strips wide enough to break the current of water. Water runways or gullies should be stabilized by seeding or even sodding and left permanently to grass. If the shoulders of the gully are worked down so that the runway is broad and shallow, there will be little difficulty in crossing it while cultivating the remainder of the field. If left unprotected, the gully may become impassable. Good crops of hay can usually be obtained from grassed water ways Late August or early September is a good time for establishing grass on runways, since the grass gets a chance to become established before the spring run off occurs.

Clean The Stables

Clean stables have much to do with keeping live stock healthy. With stock out on pasture comes an opportunity to do a little extra cleaning-up. After the stables have been thoroughly cleaned they may be sprayed with a limewash containing a suitable disinfectant. Flies and mosquitoes around farm buildings are a source of annoyance to both humans and to live stock, apart from being possible carriers of disease. The new chemical DDT is effective in helping to keep stables and other farm buildings free of these pests. Any of the commercially prepared barn sprays containing five per cent DDT may be used for this purpose, and the instructions of the manufacturer should be followed.

One gallon of spray will cover 1,500 square feet and sufficient DDT will be deposited on the surface to last for some months, though the length of time the spray will remain effective depends upon the nature of the surface sprayed, exposure to sunlight and weather, dust and dirt which may cover the deposit, the effect of rubbing or sweeping the surface when cleaning, or contact with the bodies of animals or other objects. In addition to spraying the interior of stables and other buildings the outside around doors and windows should also be treated.

Does Altitude Affect Queen Bees

In view of the increasing use of the aeroplane for long distance transit of agricultural live stock, including bees, an interesting question has arisen among beekeepers in Canada, the United States, and Australia, over the opinion expressed by some experts that if a queen bee is taken to an altitude above 3,000 feet her reproductive capacity deteriorates.

The plane is being used extensively in the North American continent for the transit of bees, and lately an overseas trade in bees has been developing between the United States and Australia. So far as the latter country is concerned, a test is being made by flying a consignment of Ligurian bees from Queensland to Kangaroo Island off the South Australian coast. "If," says the Australian News, "tests show that bees can be flown in safety and queen bees retain their fertility, there may be a considerable use of air transport by beekeepers who move their hives around the country in trucks chasing the honey flow."

Should Be Variety Canned Products

There will be a good variety of canned fruits and vegetables on grocers' shelves this winter. Despite a short crop of some kinds of fruits and vegetables, commercial canning companies will nevertheless be able to keep the consumer happy, says F. J. Perry, Chief Canning Inspector, Dominion Department of Agriculture

While emphazing that much depends on a continuance of good growing weather and favourable conditions at harvest, Mr. Perry finds many cheerful items in examining the likelihood of this year's canning operations.

The strawberry crop is over and it was a good one—the largest in several years. While canned strawberries were unobtainable for two or three years during the war, owing to shortage of metal for cans, this year's pack will probably be equal to that of the sizeable pack of 1941. Mr. Perry foresees more strawberry jam than usual, but no more frozen strawberries than were packed last year.

There will be a less than average pack of canned cherries. A fair-sized pack in British Columbia is more than balanced by the small quantity available for canning in Ontario.

The good crop of both raspberries and loganberries assures an average pack of these fruits.

Deliveries of apricots to canners in British Columbia have been only about 30 per cent of normal, but canning firms will probably can enough imported apricots to bring the pack up to average.

It is expected there will be a larger than average pack of canned peaches, despite a decline in the Ontario crop. Production of peaches in British Columbia is presently estimated at about 20 per cent above that of 1946.

There are prospects for a good crop of plums, especially of prune plums. B.C. production is forecast as 20 per cent above that of last year. The pack, however, will certainly be no higher than the record pack of 1946, as there is a heavy carryover of canned plums from last year.

A reduced crop of pears will result in a reduced pack. Of this fruit, however, there is a small carryover from 1946.

The quantity of apples to be canned and dehydrated depends largely on the requirements of the United Kingdom.

As for canned vegetables, the quantity of asparagus canned this year is small. Canners bought little, as a result of the high prices for fresh asparagus. There will be an average pack of spinach.

The pack of peas this year will be smaller than that of last year when canners put up a record quantity. There are, however, enough of last year's canned peas carried over to give consumers all they are likely to need and this year's pack promises to be of the highest quality in years.

There will be an average quantity of (green and wax) beans canned this summer. The pack of canned corn will probably be as large as in 1946.

When asked about prospects for tomatoes, Mr. Perry said: "Many growers and canners were pessimistic earlier in the season, but the long spell of hot weather in the principal tomato producing areas has brought tomatoes along remarkably. But even if it continues, and if harvesting is good and if there is enough labour, canners will probably have a smaller output of tomato products than in 1946. Tomato products include: Tomato juice, tomato puree and so on. But there are prospects for more canned tomatoes."

Clean Smiles

To face the world with a smile, Canadians need clean teeth, doctors remind us. Dirty teeth, as well as being offensive, may retard one's social and business progress. For a clean smile, therefore, the authorities urge regular after-meal and before-bed use of the toothbrush.

Home Made Paste

Three parts baking soda and one part salt makes an excellent home-made tooth paste, say the experts. Shortage of tooth-paste, therefore, is no excuse for an unclean mouth.

Hints for the Household

POINTERS ON PICKLING

The right pickle adds greatly to almost all supper dishes as well as to both hot and cold meats. Pickles are mentioned in Pliny's Writings, as "spiced and preserved cucumbers" and Cleopatra is said to have been very fond of spicy pickles, so the liking for fruit and vegetables preserved in vinegar is not a recently acquired taste.

Peter Piper was more fortunate than the home-maker. He is supposed to have picked his peck of peppers all ready pickled. Pickling, however does not need to be a heavy task, nor does it present much difficulty if a few rules are observed.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture have definite suggestions to offer for over-coming some of the common difficulties in pickle making.

Hollow pickles may result from allowing cucumbers to stand too long after pickling. For success in pickling only fresh, good quality vegetables and fruits should be used. Cucumbers and green tomatoes are best if put into brine within twenty-four hours of picking.

Soaking in brine helps to keep the vegetables firm during the succeeding pickling process. Common bag or dairy salt should be used. Salt which has been treated to make it free running causes cloudiness in the brine. Iodized salt will cause a brownish scum or sediment to form.

1 cup salt to 2 quarts (10 cups) water makes a good brine. If not enough salt is used pickles will be soft or slippery. If too much salt is used they may shrivel or become tough.

Good quality, clear vinegar is essential if pickles are to have good flavour. Both cider and blended vinegars have good flavour but white spirit vinegar gives better colour where light coloured vegetables such as onions or cauliflower or pears are used. For uncooked pickles the vinegar is used full strength. If vinegar is too weak the pickles will be soft.

Spices should be used with discretion. A dark colour or bitter flavour may result from too much spice. Whole spices are preferable but should be tied loosely in a cheesecloth bag.

Most pickles are best if allowed to stand at least a month before using in order that flavours will be well blended.

Here are two good recipes for pickles. Many others are given in the bulletin Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables which may be obtained free of charge by writing the Dominion Department of Agriculture Ottawa, Ont.

NINE DAY PICKLES

Cut up 5 quarts cucumbers. Place in brine (1 cup salt to 2 quarts water) to cover, for 3 days.

Put in cold water for 3 days, changing water each day.

Put in weak vinegar solution, 5 cups water to 1 cup vinegar; add 1 tablespoon alum.

Boil cucumbers in this mixture 5 minutes; remove, drain and put in crock.

Boil 3 pints vinegar, 3 cups brown sugar, 1 ounce allspice, 1 ounce cinnamon (powdered or sticks), 1 ounce celery seed and pour hot over pickles Drain, reheat and pour hot over cucumbers each morning for 2 additional mornings. Bottle and seal. Yield: about 5 quarts.

BARBECUE SAUCE

2 quarts tomatoes, cut in pieces
2 large onions, chopped
2 large cloves garlic, chopped
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup sugar
1 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons horseradish
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons dry mustard

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Simmer over low heat for about 30 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Yield: about 3 pints.

CANNING CORNER

When a quick dessert is called for, there is nothing better than canned fruit. Served plain with cake or cookies, it is always satisfying. On the other hand if something a little more elaborate is needed, canned fruit forms the base of delicious pies, puddings and sauces. So if one has the storage space, the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest "canning what you can".

Following are their directions for canning one of the favourite fruits—peaches. Being a sweet fruit, peaches need only a thin or moderately thin syrup. Thin syrup is made in the proportion of 1 cup sugar to 2 cups water (yield, 2½ cups syrup); moderately thin syrup 1 cup sugar to 1½ cups water (yield 2 cups syrup).

HOT PACK PEACHES

Blanch peaches 15 to 60 seconds in hot water to loosen skins. Cold dip. Cut in half, remove skin and pit. Drop peaches into brine (1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water), as they are prepared, to prevent discoloration. Drain, leave peaches in halves or slice and drop into hot syrup, bring to boil and simmer 3 minutes. Pack hot (placing peach halves cups down) in clean, hot sealers. Cover with the hot syrup leaving ¼ inch headspace. Adjust rubber rings and tops. Process in the boiling water bath 15 minutes for pints and quarts, or in an oven with an automatic heat control, for 25 minutes, at 275°F., for pints and quarts.

PENNY-SNATCHERS

Such food items as pickles, potato chips, pretzels, popcorn and candy are described by government nutritionists as "penny snatchers". While they cost people money, they return little in nutritive value.

The health authorities suggest that Canadians invest in good food before they spend money on such "extras."

Line Elevators Farm Service,

By

D. M. McLEAN
Assistant Director
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Machine Shop Symphony

Although restrictions on the purchase of new farm equipment have been lifted, production cannot keep pace with demand. Some farmers may be able to purchase used equipment but, in the main, conservation of present equipment is the best solution of a serious problem:

Conservation and Protection. Conservation in simple terms means care—the care that any good investment should have. Now that farm equipment must serve longer than ever before, care becomes doubly important.

Protection from the weather is of vital importance. Rust proofing compounds are available, and for a few cents any machine can be protected from the elements.

Servicing and Repairing. At this season of the year, with seed-time approaching, the very best plan is to thoroughly overhaul, and repair all power, tillage, and seeding equipment. Machines overhauled now will operate more efficiently and more effectively during the spring rush. Although repair parts will not be as difficult to obtain as during the war years, some items will still be in short supply. Costly delays may be avoided by servicing and repairing farm equipment now along the lines suggested below.

(1) Clean off each machine to remove dirt and rust.

(2) Check each machine carefully for loose bolts, cracked or bent frame and hitch members.

(3) Inspect all gears, bearings, chain drives, and other moving parts for wear and breakages.

(4) Order replacement parts and repairs early. Install as soon as available.

(5) Paint exposed wood and metal parts with a good grade of implement paint.

(6) Clean all tillage surfaces to remove rust and apply rust proofing compound.

(7) Grease and oil all moving parts with a good grade of lubricant.

This is no time to put off, until tomorrow, what can be done today. The best, the safest, and surest precaution is to do it now. The efficient use of machines to achieve maximum production of foods for the world's hungry peoples is, more than ever, a pressing need.

We join with farm machine dealers across Canada in giving publicity this week to Farm Safety Week, to meet the growing toll of injuries through accidents. Farm machinery is made to lighten labor—not to kill or maim—so we suggest a few elementary precautions:

1. Do not have children responsible for or alone near moving machinery.
2. Loose clothing or long hair around shafts, chains, or belts is attempted suicide.
3. Don't oil moving machinery—a five minute "oil-up" stop lasts quicker than eternity.
4. Put a shield over exposed universal joints.
5. Carry adequate lights on vehicles for night work and while on highways.
6. In case of accidents keep cool—always think before you act.

Miss Myfanwy Jones and Miss Norma Patterson spent several days last week in Edmonton where they were the guests of Myfanwy's sister, Mrs. Woonton.

Miss Rosemary Withnell is holidaying with friends in Edmonton.

Cutting grain is quite general in the district, however the farmers are being held up by wet weather which was preceded by a long dry spell.

Correction: The item reading "Mrs. C. Silversides (nee Mrs. Pearl Carr) is visiting, etc" which appeared in the issue of June 18th should have read Mrs. C. Silversides (nee Miss Irene Carr). Mrs. Silversides is Mrs. Carr's daughter.

Mrs. Pearl Carr has been visiting relatives and friends in Wainwright and district during the past week.

Raspberry Syrup

Crush raspberries, add water and simmer 10 minutes in covered pan. Strain through cheese-cloth. Dissolve sugar in warm syrup. Store in a cool place. Yields about 3 cups syrup.

To serve: Place ¼ cup of syrup in glass, add ¾ cup of cold water.

The Road To Better Health

WASHINGTON—A new weapon against tuberculosis may have been found in long yellow crystals extracted from a lichen popularly known as California Spanish moss.

Announcement of the discovery is made by Dr. Alfred Marshak in Public Health Reports, official publication of the U.S. Public Health Service here. Dr. Marshak's studies were made under the federal health service's tuberculosis control division at the Hopkins Marine Station and The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

The material "appears to retard the progress of the disease" in guinea pigs, Dr. Marshak cautiously states. Its value in human tuberculosis is not stated and probably will not be known without further study.

RECIPES

THIRST QUENCHERS FOR TORRID DAYS

Appetites lag as the temperature continues to hover around its peak day after day.

There is some difference of opinion as to the efficacy of hot and cool drinks to make one feel cooler in hot weather, but the majority always favours the cold.

Milk is food as well as beverage and cold drinks with a milk base and fruit, spice or chocolate flavour are an excellent way to make sure that every member of the family gets his daily portion of milk. For those who are not fond of plain milk such drinks are an excellent way of forming the milk habit.

The mild acidity of fruit drinks seems to quench thirst and also add to the general feeling of coolness.

The Home Economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that it is a matter of a moment to serve long cool drinks if several syrups are kept on hand. Plain syrup made by boiling 1 cups of sugar with 1 cup of water is insurance against undissolved sugar being wasted in the bottom of a glass. Chocolate syrup and fruit syrups are easy to make and will keep for some time. Chocolate milk or fruit milk shakes or fruit "ades" are then quickly prepared.

Here are several good recipes:

Rhubarb Cooler

4 cups diced rhubarb
4 cups water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
1 orange, grated rind and juice
2 cups cold tea

Cook rhubarb with water and grated rind 10 minutes. Strain. Add salt and sugar. Add tea and fruit juice. Eight servings.

Spiced Honey Milk

2 teaspoons honey
¾ cup milk

Dash of cinnamon or cloves

Mix flavouring and honey. Add milk and beat with egg beater. One serving.

CANNING CORNER

Tomatoes are one of the easiest foods to can successfully, either whole or as juice and their bright colour and fresh flavour add interest to many hot dishes during winter months. In addition, canned tomatoes make a nice vegetable served cold or hot, spiced or plain and tomato juice rates high both in palatability and as a source of vitamin C.

The following directions for canning tomatoes and juice are recommended by the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Cold Pack Tomatoes

Choose firm, ripe tomatoes. Set aside the irregular or broken ones to make juice. Blanch tomatoes 15 to 60 seconds to loosen skins. Remove stem and peel. Pack in clean, hot sealers or in plain tin cans, adding 1 teaspoon salt per quart sealer or 28-ounce tin can. Cover with hot tomato juice made by cooking, in a covered pan for 5 minutes, the irregular, broken or very large tomatoes, (which have had stem ends removed and been cut in pieces,) pressing through a sieve or puree.

Leave ½ inch headspace in glass sealers and ¼ inch in tin cans. Adjust rubber rings and lids. Process in boiling water bath 25 minutes for pints and 30-ounce tin cans and 30 minutes for quart and 76-ounce tin cans.

Because of their acidity, tomatoes may be processed in an oven which has an automatic heat control. Process pints at 275°F., for 35 minutes and quarts for 45 minutes.

To The Editor
Wainwright Star.
Dear Sir

To those citizens of this district who donated their blood in the recent Blood Donor Clinic held here I would like to say that we have used this service for the first time at the Wainwright Hospital. I'm sure that it would make each of you feel that your donation was worth while if you could have seen the efficient way in which our request for blood and plasma was handled.

The required blood arrived from Edmonton by the first available means of transportation well packed in a small aluminum refrigeration unit and complete with all the apparatus required for giving it to the patient. The whole procedure was handled very smoothly, and the service is certainly a credit to those members of the Red Cross who have had anything to do with its organization.

We shall use this service a great deal as time goes on, and this whole procedure shall soon seem very common-place to us, so I thought I would take this opportunity of informing those who did give blood in the past and those who will do so in the future that the benefits of your donations have already been felt by the community.

Congratulations to the Red Cross on a very worthy and efficient system.

Yours very truly,
J. D. WALLACE, M.D.

Good News For Chrysanthemum Growers

Most chrysanthemum growers all across the country have suffered keen disappointment at one time or another when only distorted and lop-sided flowers developed after all their trouble of growing, stopping or pinching and disbudding.

This injury is caused by the tarnished plant bug, and while readily controlled by screening under glass, this is not feasible in the open, and heretofore no satisfactory control was known.

The distortion of the buds is due to "stinging" by the bug, which is a brownish or vari-coloured beetle-like insect about ¼ inch long. It feeds by inserting its sucking mouth parts into the growing tips of the plants and withdrawing sap, thus injuring the plant cells. It is a general feeder, causing varying types of injury to a large number of different crops, from orchard trees, nursery stock, alfalfa and sugar beets, to the bud stinging of asters, chrysanthemums and dahlias.

In British Columbia it breeds and feeds most abundantly on red clover and grasses, and when these crops are cut or ripen, the bugs migrate in large numbers to garden plants which are still green and succulent.

The tarnished plant bug, especially in the adult stage, is highly resistant to the previously known contact insecticides and its habit of steady migration from field to garden adds to the difficulty of control, because of the occurrence of continuous re-infestation.

However with the introduction of DDT, an easy and satisfactory control has been found. From experiments made at the Agassiz Laboratory of the Division of Entamology, Science Service, it has been demonstrated that a 3 per cent DDT dust applied to the tips of the growing chrysanthemums in late summer and early autumn, not only kills the bugs already there, but remains effective for at least two weeks and kills the succeeding migrants from the fields. Thus two, or at most three applications of this dust, renewed after heavy rains, are all that is needed by the chrysanthemum grower to protect his plants and obtain perfectly formed flowers.

WORLD OF WHEAT PREVIEW OF NEW VARIETIES

Last April at the Hague in Holland I saw a remarkable sight. In an enormous auditorium there was a veritable sea of every kind of lovely flower imaginable, a veritable rainbow of colours of every imaginable tint and hue, from the softest shades of rose, pink, yellow and blue to the velvety jet black of the tulips. These flowers had all been grown in greenhouses and were a preview of what world buyers could purchase later on in the season from the products of the Dutch fields.

This reminded me of a similar kind of preview made available to farmers by the Demonstration Plots of the "Crop Testing Plan", which plots are sown by Agents at many of the elevators of the Companies which support the "Crop Testing Plan". Here the best of the old and the new varieties of wheat, oats, barley and flax can be seen actually growing. By observing these plots the farmer can determine which is the most suitable variety for his own fields, so quite easily he can keep up with the march of agricultural progress in field crops, can choose the best varieties for his farm, and so ensure to himself the highest yield, quality and grade in his crops that climatic conditions will permit.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Harvesting is now underway in Western Europe, and yields are generally poor. Some countries will have sufficient grain for home consumption if rationing is continued, but others will require large grain imports—The food situation in India is deteriorating owing to the inability of the Government to implement its procurement program.

Argentina recently signed an agreement with France to supply that country with cereals and oilseeds—The United States Department of Agriculture now estimates the corn crop at 2,770,930,000 bushels, as of July 15th, an increase of 158 million bushels over the July 1st estimate, and some 5% above average.

Pesticides Applied With Fertilizer

A new and almost revolutionary approach is now being made towards the control of soil-borne fungus diseases, soil insects and weeds by mixing fungicides, insecticides and weed killers with the fertilizer applied at the time of crop planting. Striking results have already been obtained in preliminary tests, the success of which may mean a substantial saving in time and equipment for farmers plagued by weeds and soil inhabiting pests.

Experiments using benzene hexachloride as an insecticide in fertilizer mixtures to control wireworms, are among the extensive tests being conducted by the agricultural chemicals division of Canadian Industries Limited. The cutworm, another highly destructive soil inhabiting insect, may be killed by the same treatment. Several fungicides are also being tested in fertilizer mixtures to determine their value in controlling root and seedling diseases of vegetable crops. Arasan, an effective seed treating product for corn and vegetables, is one of the many fungicides under experiment.

Already, 2, 4-D has been mixed with fertilizer to eradicate weeds in fields used for the production of grass seed. Fall applications of this mixture has resulted in a marked reduction in the number of weed seed in the grass seed harvested the following season. This treatment would not be satisfactory on clovers because of the killing effect of 2, 4-D on such crops.

Agricultural workers can suggest many applications for a fertilizer-pesticide mixture. Each proposed use however, must be subjected to careful and exhaustive testing before being recommended as general farm practice.

Wife Preservers

A fine crochet hook or nail pick makes a good instrument with which to pull baling threads quickly.

Adult Exercise

If you are over 35, or have not been in training, don't undertake strenuous exercise without first having a full medical check-up, warn the doctors. If exercise leaves one fatigued and depressed, with a rapid heart which doesn't slow down promptly, and with a trembling feeling in the muscles, cut out such exertion. The authorities remind Canadians that, unless they are used to a certain amount of exercise daily, they can't take a chance on a sudden splurge of energy over a week-end, or on holidays.

Turpentine Important In Painting

One of the cheapest and most widely taken-for-granted paint materials—turpentine—is also one of the oldest and most consistently used of all such products, with a history that stretches back into antiquity and which makes a lot of modern paint, varnish and lacquer materials appear like babes-in-arms by comparison.

The ancient Egyptians used turpentine—but there is nothing to prove that they were by any means the original users. Turpentine was well known throughout the middle ages and has been widely used ever since. In a way, it had a bearing on the opening up of North America because one of the reasons King James of England had for the colonization of Virginia was that the colony would provide an additional source of turpentine for the Royal Navy.

Today, everybody who has ever lifted a paint brush probably is thoroughly familiar with turpentine as a lowly but quite important part of most types of painting. Yet few people who know its smell, its uses and its qualities know how it is made. Nevertheless, in the comparative simplicity of its manufacture and in its ready availability, turpentine is almost unique in the paint industry.

Other materials which go into paint manufacture come widely-scattered places and, in many cases, as the result of carefully controlled chemical processes. The products of countries in every part of the world, plus the scientific and technical knowledge of a great many people are all wrapped up in a can of paint. Compared with the intricacies of paint formulation, turpentine is easy.

Actually, though, there isn't just one kind of turpentine—there are four: gum spirits, steam distilled wood, destructively distilled wood, and sulphate turpentine.

Gum turpentine, or gum spirits, is obtained from long leaf pine forests, mostly found in the southern part of the United States. The trees are slashed and the oleo-resin from the wounds is collected. Then it is mixed with water and distilled over a wood fire, so that the turpentine passes off with the steam, leaving resin in the still.

In the manufacture of steam distilled wood turpentine, pine wood is utilized. As the name implies, the turpentine is steam distilled from the wood which previously is ground into small pieces accessible by the steam. The resulting product is used in paints and varnishes in the same way and for the same purposes as the gum spirits.

In the making of destructively distilled turpentine, pine stumps removed from the ground by blasting by stump pullers are heated dry, without the use of steam, and the turpentine is extracted by the heat. Sulphate turpentine, the youngest of an old family, is obtained from the crude waste liquor of paper mills. It is the strongest of all turpentines in solvent power, but has a more pungent odor than its brothers.

RCMP To Check American Money Regulations

At the request of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, the R.C.M.P. have commenced a country-wide check of the way in which storekeepers, service stations, hotels and others are handling U.S. currency received from tourists.

The U.S. dollar expenditures of tourists in Canada are one of the main sources of the foreign exchange needed to pay for Canadian imports and other normal expenditures in the United States. So that the U.S. dollars spent by tourists will be available for these purposes, the Foreign Exchange Control Regulations require that Canadian merchants and others turn the U.S. currency they receive into their banks.

Officials of the Board said that reports they have received indicate that many merchants are not turning in their U.S. dollar receipts but are paying them out freely in change and in some cases are selling them to members of the public in exchange for Canadian currency. This has led to the check-up now being made and where breaches of the Regulations are found, prosecutions under the Foreign Exchange Control Act will be commenced.

Under the Regulations a merchant, hotelkeeper or other person engaged in a business serving tourists may accept U.S. currency at par and may make change in U.S. currency for a non-resident tourist who tenders U.S. currency in payment for purchases. For this purpose a merchant may keep on hand a reasonable amount of U.S. currency but, with this one exception, is required to turn in to his bank all U.S. currency he receives.

In no circumstances is a merchant, hotelkeeper, etc. entitled under the Regulations to pay out U.S. currency in exchange for Canadian currency or in change to a Canadian resident, even though the latter may have tendered U.S. currency in payment for a purchase.

Canadian Trade Mission To South Africa

Canada is sending a trade mission to South Africa next September, headed by the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in an effort to stimulate further the close commercial relations between these two units of the British Commonwealth. The Minister will be accompanied by a representative group of Canadian businessmen, including R. C. Berkinshaw, President Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and vice-president, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada; V. M. Drury, President Canadian Car and Foundry Company; Paul Bienvenu, President, Catelli Food Products; E. E. H. Wright, President, Welland Vale Manufacturing Company; and D. R. Moffat, Vice-president, Moffat's Limited.

In making his announcement the Minister explained that an invitation had been received from the Government of the Union of South Africa, where he will confer with Government authorities. Arrangements have been made to meet with members of the Chamber of Mines in Johannesburg, various branches of the Chamber of Commerce, and other associations interested in the promotion of trade between Canada and South Africa.

Canadians are vitally concerned in the development of trade with South Africa. Our exports to the Union have increased from $17,996,959 in 1929, to $68,632,885 in 1946. Imports from South Africa, on the other hand, have risen from a value of $3,990,881 in 1939 to a value of $7,881,625 in 1946. Due to major developments in the basic and secondary industries of South Africa, this market is of increasing importance to Canadian manufacturers.

En route to and from South Africa, the mission will confer with trade representatives in the Belgian Congo, Cairo, Rome and Lisbon.

More Visitors To The National Parks

Confirming earlier forecasts, the number of visitors to Canada's national parks showed a decided increase for the month of July—394,687 as compared with 303,204, an increase of 91,483 over July of last year. These figures do not include the national historic parks, for which complete returns are not yet available.

Banff National Park in Alberta with an increase of 26,512; Jasper National Park in the same province with an increase of 15,964; and Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba with an increase of 13,528 showed the largest gains.

If this rate of increase is maintained during August and September the million mark will be passed, and it is probable that the record total established in 1941 will be exceeded.

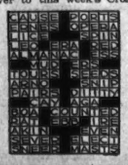

Obviously this increase in visitors to the national parks has put a heavy strain on ordinary accommodation facilities, but the operators of hotels and bungalow cabins have done a splendid job in taking care of the greater demand. More tents and cabin trailers are in evidence than at any time since the parks were established. Many of the camp-grounds have been improved and enlarged in order to handle the greater numbers making use of them.

Green Gables Golf Course

Green Gables has for years been an unfailing point of interest for visitors to Prince Edward Island, and is now available as a tea room. Although repaired and painted, the original building has been faithfully preserved in all its details, and an attendant is on hand to escort visitors through its rooms. Many other points of interest associated with the "Anne" stories, including the "Haunted Wood" and "Lover's Lane", are easily reached by paths and trails which lead from the building. An excellent golf course has been laid out in the vicinity, and visitors will also find a campground nearby. A modern dressing room for bathers and swimmers has been built at the beach.

Golf may be played under ideal conditions on the new Green Gables links in the Cavendish section of the park. Skirting the sand dunes along the sea shore, and extending back into the pastoral countryside of the Island, the 18-hole links at Green Gables offer a delightful combination of seaside and inland course resembling some of the links of Scotland. Devices of modern landscape architecture have been employed in designing and constructing the course, which has several water hazards and a remarkable assortment of holes. Many of the points portrayed in the literature associated with the region have been woven into the layout, and golfers may play over holes called "The Lake of Shining Waters", "Dryad's Bubble", "Mathew's Field", and "Haunted Wood". The route of play, location of tees, and selection of sites for greens have been carefully planned to preserve natural features associated with the stories.
